Glossary

Earnings per share (EPS): Total earnings divided by the number of shares outstanding. Measured as a percentage change as of the annual Index screening date compared to the prior 12 months. Higher values indicate greater growth orientation.

Earnings reported: Includes expenses, earnings, and overall profit of the company for a certain period.

Earnings surprise: Occurs when the reported profit or loss of a publicly-held company is outside of the range of expectations of analysts.

Emerging Market (EM): Characterized by greater market access and less potential for operational risks when compared to frontier markets, which leads to a larger base of potentially eligible investors.

Estimated price-to-earnings (P/E) ratio: Share price divided by estimated 12-month earnings per share. Lower numbers indicate an ability to access greater amounts of estimated 12-month earnings per dollar invested.

Forward earnings per share (EPS) Growth: A measure of a company's estimated profitability, calculated by dividing quarterly or annual income (minus dividends) by the number of outstanding stock shares.

Forward P/E ratio: Share price divided by compilation of analyst estimates for earnings-per-share over the coming 12-month period. These are estimates that may be subject to revision or prove to be incorrect over time.

Fundamentals: Attributes related to a company's actual operations and production as opposed to changes in share price.

Growth: Style of investing characterized by higher price levels relative to fundamentals, such as dividends or earnings. Price levels are higher because investors are willing to pay more due to their expectations of future improvements in these fundamentals.

Momentum: Characterized by assets with recent price increase trends over time.

Price level: The average of current prices across the entire spectrum of goods and services produced in an economy.

Price-to-earnings (P/E) ratio: Share price divided by earnings per share. Lower numbers indicate an ability to access greater amounts of earnings per dollar invested.

Quality: Characterized by higher efficiency and profitability. Typical measures include earnings, return on equity, return on assets, operating profitability as well as others. This term is also related to the Quality Factor, which associates these stock characteristics with excess returns vs the market over time.

Sales reported: Revenue, they are reported directly on the income statement.

Sales surprise: If a company releases a number higher or lower than the consensus (a combination of all the released estimates), this is known respectively as a positive or negative surprise.

Size capitalization: A measure by which a company's size is classified. Large caps are usually classified as companies that have a market cap over $10 billion. Mid-caps range from $2 billion to $10 billion. Small caps are typically new or relatively young companies and have a market cap between $200 million and $2 billion.

Value: Style of investing characterized by lower price levels relative to fundamentals, such as earnings or dividends. Prices are lower because investors are less certain of the performance of these fundamentals in the future. This term is also related to the Value Factor, which associates these stock characteristics with excess returns vs the market over time.

Index Definitions

WisdomTree U.S. Dividend Index: The WisdomTree U.S. Dividend Index is a fundamentally-weighted index that defines the dividend-paying portion of the U.S. equity market. WisdomTree U.S. LargeCap Dividend Index: The WisdomTree U.S. LargeCap Dividend Index is a fundamentally weighted index that measures the performance of the large-capitalization segment of the U.S. dividend-paying market. WisdomTree U.S. High Dividend Index: The WisdomTree U.S. High Dividend Index is a fundamentally weighted index that measures the performance of companies with high dividend yields selected from the WisdomTree U.S. Dividend Index. Companies that score favorably on the composite risk score will have an increase in weights and companies that rank poorly will have a reduction in weights.

WisdomTree U.S. MidCap Dividend Index: The WisdomTree U.S. MidCap Dividend Index is a fundamentally weighted index that measures the performance of the mid-capitalization segment of the US dividend-paying market. The index is dividend weighted annually to reflect the proportionate share of the aggregate cash dividends each component company is projected to pay in the coming year, based on the most recently declared dividend per share.

WisdomTree U.S. SmallCap Dividend Index: The WisdomTree U.S. SmallCap Dividend Index is a fundamentally weighted index measuring the performance of the small-capitalization segment of the US dividend-paying market.
